

Paycheck Protection Program

IN THEIR WORDS

Deanna West-Torrence, Executive Director
North End Community Improvement Collaborative, Inc.

"Not unlike countless employers across the nation, our operations were impacted by the COVID-19 pandemic and we found ourselves having to reduce hours and/or lay off staff.

Fortunately, we were made aware that non-profit organizations were eligible for the Payroll Protection Program and decided that it would be an appropriate program for us to pursue.

We were grateful that the process was not difficult and we got the support we needed quickly from our friends at Park National."

Maureen Massaro, Board President
Tri County Food Alliance operated as Second Harvest Food Bank

"Many of the hard-working families we serve live paycheck to paycheck — one accident, illness or crisis — out of poverty. COVID was the tipping point that brought 57% more households to the food bank.

Second Harvest Food Bank could not have met the increased need of the schools, seniors and all those in our community suffering from food insecurity without the Payroll Protection Program loan.

John, Brian and the Park National team worked quickly to provide us the loan. They have been a partner in every way — a true community bank who cares about the needs in our community."

Barry Coutts, Sr., President
True Inspection Services, LLC

"As with many small businesses, we quickly found ourselves affected by COVID-19. Many of our transportation and engineering projects were being delayed or canceled.

In our staff planning meeting we were determining cutbacks on personnel due to the COVID-19 delays. It was certainly a Godsend that we heard that small businesses were eligible for the Payroll Protection Program and could keep our employees on staff.

Our team immediately started working with our commercial banker at Park National.

Due to the changing requirements by the SBA it took some effort to complete the application. That said, Pat always quickly answered our questions and provided updates on our application and disbursement. We were very grateful for the work that Pat performed getting us included in the PPP."
